WITH THE U. S. THIRD ARMY, Nov. 21.—Advance elements of Lieut. Gen. George S. Patton's Third Army troops knifed into the Maginot line in two places today on the heels of retreating German hordes.

They captured the focal point of the Maginot line, the town of Metz, 16 miles due east of Chateau Salins, and drove to within eight miles of the Reich border below Saarbrücken.

The German DNB agency said the Doughboys, striking in strength along the Lunenburg-Saarbrücken road while driving east and northeast, reached the Rhine-Marne canal and the Saar river southwest of Saarbrücken. Bitter fighting was said to be in progress at points where Patton's men were attempting to cross the canal.

Chief Obstacles

German rearward nests, minefields and roadblocks offer the main points of resistance between the Third Army and the Reich. Renewed rains are keeping the fields extremely muddy, but still the entire right wing gained up to three miles with one spearhead within 18 miles of Saarbrücken.

Columns driving due north took Foulquembourg and reached the center. They also raced through the vicinity of Pontpierre, 17 miles northeast of Chateau Salins, where

French Army Finds Soft Spot In Defense

By CAPTAIN JOHN H. CRAIGIE
(Written Especially For International News Service)

The probing attacks of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's vast Allied armies on the western front found a soft spot in the German defensive line yesterday and last night, when the French First Army, on the southern end of the Allied battle front, plunged through the historic Belfort Gap for an advance of more than 30 miles to the Rhine.

The drive of the French Army is of great strategic importance because it completely circles the left flank of German forces fighting in France between the Swiss border and Luxembourg. It means that all of Hitler's troops in the entire triangle, thousands of square miles in extent, between Switzerland and the pre-1940 German-French frontier, are in danger of destruction, which they can avoid only by a swift retreat.

First Advantages

First fruit of the advance of the fighting French is the capture of Belfort, ancient fortress-city of the French-German frontier. Even more important was the flanking of the celebrated Maginot line. This giant defensive structure, once ranked as

Mounting War Costs Are Spur To Loan Drive

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—(INS)—The Sixth War Loan drive gained momentum throughout the Nation today, sparked anew by an advertisement from Treasury Secretary Henry H. Morgenthau that war costs are mounting tremendously and that there can be no "bargain-price" victory.

Morgenthau, addressing 1,600 persons at a New York War Finance committee dinner, cited statistics from Army Chief of Staff Gen. George C. Marshall showing that the current massed assault at the threshold of Nazi Germany is taking an enormous toll of ammunition and costly equipment and warred:

"The last barrage, that fearful tornado of high explosives which will knock first Germany then Japan out of the war will make our previous expenditure of ammunition seem trivial."

He said a single month of combat on the German front cost 500,000 tons, 2,400 trucks and jeeps and a million and a half shells and warred that Americans must dig deep into their pockets to help pay for a war growing more costly every minute.

In New York, while Morgenthau was speaking, more than 100 million dollars' worth of bonds were being sold at a six-hour radio show and bond rally in Madison Square Garden attended by 20,000 persons, with seats selling for bond purchases varying between $25 in the bleachers to $100,000 for box seats.

Boston Teamsters Given WLB Order To Resume Work

BULLETIN
BOSTON, Nov. 21.—(INS)—The New England War Labor Board today ordered nearly 5,000 striking teamsters to return to work by tomorrow morning or face revocation of their deferred draft classification.

Failure to comply with the directive, the WLB said, will result in invocation of other penalties, including prohibition from future employment in war industry and refusal of certificates of availability for such employment.

The board, denouncing the strike as an interference with the war program requested employers to submit names and addresses of drivers still absent at the beginning of the work shift tomorrow.

Taking cognizance of the strikers' struggle for intra-union democracy, the board declared that there was no excuse for translating this into strike action. The struggle, the board declared, should have been carried on within the union and under the constitution of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, Chauffeurs and Warehousemen, AFL.

Jap Home Islands Again Blasted By U. S. Super Forts

Tokyo Report Says Estimated
70 To 80 Huge Bombers
In Latest Attacks

HUGE AIRCRAFT PLANT BOMBED

(BULLETIN)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—American B-29 Superfortress bombers roared out from their China bases today to blast Kyushu, southernmost of the Japanese home islands, and the enemy later reported that the important Nagasaki and Omura areas were the objectives.

While a brief announcement in Washington gave no details of the latest raid by the B-29's, Tokyo press and radio reports said an estimated 70 to 80 of the huge bombers had carried out the attack.

The announcement by Gen. H. H. Arnold, commanding general of the 20th Air Force, merely said a "large task force" of B-29's from Maj. Gen. Curtis E. Lemay's 20th Bomber Command had attacked industrial targets on Kyushu and said a communiqué would be issued when further details are available.

List 118 Jap Planes Lost

Carrier-Based Aerial Smash
At Manila Catches Many Enemy Planes On Ground

By RICHARD V. HALLER
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

PEARL HARBOR, Nov. 21.—Further word was awaited today on results of the latest American carrier-based aerial smash at the Manila area of the Philippines as a Pacific fleet headquarters communiqué based on incomplete reports listed at least 118 Japanese planes destroyed and two large enemy cargo ships and one large tanker left in flames.

Navy planes carried out the raid Saturday, smashing "about 100 enemy planes" on the ground at Jap-held airfield near Manila, shooting down ten in aerial combat over targets, and destroying eight others in the air near the carriers from which the American warbirds were launched.

A Japanese imperial headquarters communiqué claimed today that units of the Nip air force sank two cruisers and damaged an aircraft carrier and a battleship in an attack on an "enemy task force" in the waters east of Luzon on Sunday. The communiqué which was broadcast by Tokyo and recorded by PCC, also claimed that four transports had been damaged and a B-25 bomber shot down in a raid on a convoy in waters southeast of Guam yesterday.

Soviet Forces Drive Closer To Budapest

By NATALIA RENE
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

MOSCOW, Nov. 21.—The red army fought today to isolate Miskolc, Hungary's fifth largest city, in a series of thrusts and pushes designed to roll back the Wehrmacht on the northeastern approaches to Budapest.

Russian forces gained a firmer hold on the 85 miles of rail and highway communications between Miskolc and the Hungarian capital and Miskolc was half-encircled by advances which scooped up more than 12 towns and railway stations.

No Confirmation

Meanwhile, there was no official confirmation in Moscow of German reports of a new red army offensive in western Latvia against Nazi divisions isolated for more than a month in the Courland peninsula.

The Soviet communiqué announced fierce fighting in the battles which brought the Russians to within less than two miles of Miskolc. Units of the second Ukrainian army drove up both sides of the city, capturing Döbseyör, three miles west of the communications hub, and Csanelos, seven miles to the northeast.

Another column, hitting the Germans head on, swung through the village of Csaba, a mile and a half south of Miskolc, and Szirma, two miles southeast.

Lines of Contact Cut

The advances cut lines of contact for German forces in Hungary and those in Slovakia. They pressed the Nazis back into the Bueck and Matra mountains on the approaches to Czechoslovakia and western Austria.

With Miskolc threatened, and the red army across most of the railway linking it with the Hungarian capital, an early end to the battle for Budapest was predicted.

New Immigration Bill Approved

To Enter

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—(INS)—The House Immigration committee today unanimously approved a bill which would permit soldiers and sailors without a country but who once fought in this country's uniform, to enter the United States on a non-quota status.

The bill of Rep. Kearney (R) N. Y., affects several thousand World War I veterans who are now marooned in Canada and elsewhere. Some of these men never returned to America after the war and being unable to secure birth certificates have not been able to meet the present rigid entrance laws. Others had failed to take out proper citizenship papers, the committee was told. The bill would permit the veterans to bring their wives.

Gen. Eisenhower Urges More Speed On Home Front

By JOSEPH WILLICOMBE, JR.
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, Allied Expeditionary Force, Paris, Nov. 21.—The peoples of the United Nations—troops at the front and persons at home—were urged today by Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, supreme commander of the war in the west against the Reich, to devote the very maximum of effort until the day of Germany's surrender.

"To get peace we have got to fight like hell for it; let's do it!" the general said at a supreme headquarters news conference.

Gen. Eisenhower made an urgent appeal to those on the home front for more supplies.

"I want more supplies than I am getting," he demanded.

"I think the soldier wants more than he is getting, both now and in the future."

He asked the people on the home front to increase their effort in a mounting crescendo which would reach its highest pitch on the day of the enemy's surrender.

Unless everyone in all of the United Nations, he said, "those at the front and those at home keep on the job everlastingly with mounting intensity we are only postponing the day of victory."

Many Jap Ships Sunk At Manila

Seventy-Eight Hulks Re-

U. S. Plane Attacks

By PHILIP G. REED
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

ABOARD ADMIRAL HALSEY'S FLAGSHIP OFF THE NORTHERN PHILIPPINES, Nov. 19.—(Delayed)—Manila bay is the boneyard of Japanese shipping with 78 hulks in the harbor tonight while Luzon's enemy airdromes are blackened with the charred skeletons of at least another hundred planes.

Third fleet carrier aircraft pummeled the island from top to bottom today for the seventh time within two months.

The Japs are still piling reinforcements into the island but on a reduced scale apparently. Most of the shattered and half-submerged hulks counted in the Manila-Cavite area today were victims of previous attacks. Two large cargo vessels and one tank were set ablaze there today.

When the American fliers left the area only three small cargo ships still appeared serviceable. Shipping was also light in surrounding waters. Nine small ships in a convoy off San Fernando were attacked and one was sunk and two others hit. Two small ships were left in flames in Subic bay and another off Moron. One lugger was set afire off Laoag and five small oil carriers were burned near Batangas for a total of one sunk, 14 burned or damaged in the vicinity of the island.

Japanese Premier In Double-Talk

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 21.—(INS)—In a Tokyo dispatch recorded by the FCC, Premier Gen. Kuniaki Koiso of Japan was quoted today by the Japanese news agency Domei as saying the present battles on and around Leyte island in the Philippines "are extremely intense" and that the rise or fall of Japan "depends on this struggle."

In typical Japanese double-talk, however, after admitting the seriousness of the Philippines battles, Koiso renewed Tokyo claims of victories in waters off Formosa and the Philippines "so brilliant that they are unprecedented in the annals of naval warfare."

French Bluebeard Offers Defense In Trial For Life

Dr. Marcel Petiot, Who Killed An Estimated 40, Did It To Help Resistance

PARIS, Nov. 21.—(INS)—Dr. Marcel Petiot, accused of being the Paris bluebeard who murdered almost 40 persons while the Germans occupied France, today defended himself on grounds that he was aiding the resistance movement.

During yesterday's session of his trial, Petiot claimed that when the United States broke off relations with the Germans he gave Americans details of his "secret weapon." Asked by the judge the nature of the weapon, he replied:

"My famous death-dealing syringe."

Petiot, whose victims were mainly women lured to his laboratory and after death in a sulphuric acid bath, maintained that he had long been a member of the French underground. He denied charges that he had killed patriots.

The judge asked him why he had been seen inside the Paris Gestapo headquarters and Petiot said:

"I got into conversation with the people who came out, took them to the forest of Marly Le Roi and killed them with my syringe."

French Forces Are Battling To Cross Rhine

German Defenses On Upper

REPORT YANKS ARE

By THURSTON MACAULEY
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

PARIS, Nov. 21.—The Germans were reported today to be retreating along the entire 100-mile front from southeast of Saarebourg to the foot of the Vosges mountains after the successful drive by the French First Army to the Rhine threatened the whole southern flank of Germany's defenses.

Front dispatches told of the general retreat of the Nazis in the face of possible entrapment as the French were reported already battling to secure a crossing of the Rhine.

Drive Hard

The French First and the American Seventh armies drove hard against the German forces falling back on the frontier cities of Strasbourg, Colmar and Mulhouse.

French units battling northwest of the two points reached on the Rhine hammered to within less than eight miles of Mulhouse, while the American Seventh to the north struck to within less than five miles of Saarebourg, some 30 miles from Strasbourg.

(A dispatch by the German DNB agency reported that street fighting now is in progress in the city of Saarebourg.)

"In Lorraine the Americans have extended the front of their offensive and after very hard fighting have reached the town of Saarebourg where street and house-to-house fighting is now going on," DNB added.

(In Burgundy a strong Allied tank force has reached Mulhouse," DNB added.)

As Americans at election time we roar and we raise a fuss, and the candidates call each other names to add to the general muss. We grump and we place out bets and we rise to a fever heat, but after the votes are counted, all, and some, are sunk in defeat we go about our usual tasks and we're friends no matter who won, which is the proper American way for elections are usually fun. But once a man is elected, and we know the official score, he represents all of the people then, the weather is forty-four.

Third Fleet Carrier Force Master Of Sea

By PHILIP G. REED

ABOARD CARRIER FLAGSHIP OFF LUZON, Nov. 20.—(Delayed)—(Via Navy Radio)—Vice Admiral John S. McCain revealed his conviction today that Third Fleet Carrier Forces are now powerful enough to go any place at will.

The new commander of the Third Fleet's fast Carrier Forces, who recently took over from Vice Admiral Marc A. Mitscher, said "we can go anywhere on earth as long as there's water to float us and enough wind over the deck to launch our planes."

Jap Pilot Loses Big

Admiral McCain said the Japs are making plenty of planes, alright, but have nowhere near enough pilots to make up for losses suffered since September.

"And I know what a job it is to train pilots," said the former chief of the navy's bureau of aeronautics. "Admiral McCain said there is hardly any question that the Japs intend to fight for Guadalcanal. He added: 'I suppose they'll dribble on down from battleships to cruisers and finally we will be sinking barges just like we did there. They're awfully stupid in trying to hold a hopeless position.'"

Can't Get Supplies Through

The admiral said carrier planes can't prevent all enemy troop landings on Leyte but expressed doubt that the Japs can get through enough ammunition for fighting purposes. He asserted the enemy is already having a tough time getting supplies as far as Luzon.

Late photos of yesterday's strike at Luzon, he said, showed not a single serviceable ship left in Manila harbor and "so many left over torpedoes stuck in the mud you can't count them."

CHARGE METERS ROBBED

Paul Perrone, South Jefferson street, reportedly confessed to Lieutenant Suber and Policemen Curbell and Chaffee early this morning that he had broken off meter boxes and robbed them here recently. He was held in jail on a charge of larceny of parking meters, according to Police Chief R. D. Hanna.

FRENCH ARMY FINDS SOFT SPOT IN DEFENSE

impregnable to frontal assault, was erected in the late 1920's as a safeguard for France from possible future attack by Germany. But German engineers during recent months have been reported busy facing its guns and fortresses toward France, for use against the Allies, and many Allied authorities felt that its powerful structures might afford the Nazis an extra defensive line that would cost additional American-British casualties to capture.

By their advances within the past 24 hours, however, the troops of the 1st French Army have penetrated to the rear of the Maginot fortifications and are in a position to crumple the entire line by advancing along its flank, taking one strong position after another.

Real Battle In North

Although the advance of the Fighting French is of great strategic and psychological importance, the real battle-ground where victory will pay off with the greatest rewards is in the north.

Along the southern third of the front, from Metz to the west border, Allied Armies are still fighting in France, endeavoring to drive the Nazis back to their own territory. Nowhere in this sector have United Nations troops reached the Siegfried line, Germany's main defense.

In the north, on the contrary, from Luxembourg to the northern flank of the Allied battle-line in Holland, American and British armies are everywhere fighting along the borderline of Germany itself, and assaults may encounter resistance from the actual Siegfried line fortifications. Advances in northern sectors are therefore, much more difficult, but a breakthrough would have much more important consequences.

Probably the most important sector of the Allied line is that between Arnhem and Aachen, where more than 500,000 Allied soldiers of the American 1st and 9th Armies and the British 2nd Army are assaulting a front approximately 30 miles long. A breakthrough here would permit Allied armored units to roll on into the broad Nazi Westphalian plain, that swings eastward with no formidable natural obstacles to Berlin, approximately 300 miles away.

Nagasaki, the largest city on Kyushu and one of Japan's principal ports, is also the site of large industrial holdings belonging to Japan's famous Mitsubishi family.

"A large force of B-29 aircraft from the 20th Air Force today attacked industrial targets on the island of Kyushu, in the Japanese homeland," said Gen. Arnold's announcement.

"The mission was carried out from China bases by Maj. Gen. Curtis E. Lemay's 20th Bombardment Group. A communiqué will be issued when further details are available."

In Two Waves

New York, Nov. 21.—The Nagasaki and Omura areas of northwestern Kyushu, one of the Jap home islands, were targets for an estimated 70 to 80 United States Superfortress bombers which attacked today, Tokyo press and radio reports said.

The Tokyo reports, recorded by the FCC, said the B-29's penetrated over the areas in two waves at about 9:45 a. m. (8:45 p. m. Monday EDT) and were met by Jap fighter planes which engaged them in "fierce air duels."

Tokyo broadcast an Imperial communiqué which attempted to claim that 32 Superfortresses had been destroyed in the course of the raid. The communiqué stated that 14 "shot down but not confirmed" and seven others "observed emitting streams of black smoke."

Clouds prevented the bombers from making accurate attacks, the Japs asserted.

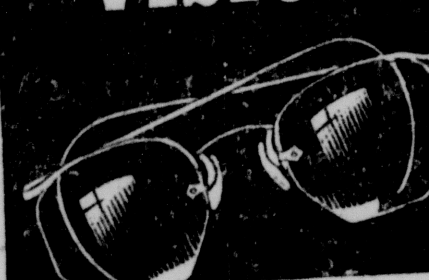

"Damages suffered by our side were extremely light," the Domei agency said.

Allegheny County Official Figures On Civilian Vote

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 21.—(INS)—Official return board figures today gave President Roosevelt a civilian plurality in Allegheny county of 78,515 votes.

The vote for Roosevelt and Truman was 56.7 per cent of the total cast for presidential electors in the county; the vote for Dewey and Bricker was 42.9 per cent, with the remaining 4 per cent for minor parties.

The total votes cast in the county by civilians was 576,069, or 77.1 per cent of the registration. The returns also revealed the odd fact that 7,258 of those who cast votes failed to record a choice for President.

Final returns—not including the soldier vote, which officials will begin to tabulate tomorrow—showed: Roosevelt-Truman: 322,534.

Dewey-Bricker: 244,019.

astride the waterway from which they could drive northward through the Alsace plain and cut off Nazi forces in the Vosges mountains.

A dispatch from the daily Herald in London from the Swiss frontier said American engineers were erecting an emergency bridge across the Rhine in the Kembs area.

The French smashed up to the Rhine at both Kembs, 12 miles north of Basel, Switzerland, and in the area of Hunningen, between Kembs and Basel.

Allied armies to the north punched their way deeper toward the Rhine and the Saar in general advances which carried the Allied line forward to distances varying from one to two or more miles.

Advance North Of Aachen

While the American First and Ninth armies and the British Second Army slashed ahead in the battle area north of Aachen inside Germany in slow but steady drives, the Third Army commanded by Lieut. Gen. George S. Patton, Jr., ploughed forward through eastern France to score appreciable gains as the Germans dropped back on the Siegfried line following the fall of Metz.

Between Patton's forces and the First French Army, the American Seventh Army also moved ahead relentlessly along a 40-mile front and overran numerous towns formerly held by the enemy.

At the northern end of the battle line the British Second Army forces in the eastern Netherlands made good progress west of the Mass (Meuse) river base of Venlo. They moved across heavily mined ground against comparatively light opposition.

Cross Canal

North of Meijel the Britons reached the vicinity of Heleenaveen and the Helena canal. Spearheads crossed the canal.

Kesselik and Kessel both were occupied and the Second Army moved up to the Maas between the two towns. The British clung firmly to a bridgehead in the Roermond area.

Northeast of Geilenkirchen, on the sector inside Germany manned by the U. S. Ninth and the British Second armies, a Nazi counter-attack in which tanks were employed was beaten off. East of Geilenkirchen a fierce German resistance was encountered in the vicinity of Gierenweiler and the town of Freialdenhoven.

Durboslar was captured and the Allied forces advanced beyond Scheldien.

on the northwest coast of Borneo, scoring a direct hit on a Jap destroyer and shattering nearby docks. Another flight of heavy and medium bombers swung over to Tarakan on the East Borneo coast, and unloaded 121 tons of explosives on enemy oil installations and shipping with "excellent" results.

Day and night raids were carried out over the Celebes, with attack planes and fighter patrols bombing the Sidate, airdrome and installations at Gorontalo Bay. At night medium bombers followed up with attacks against targets of opportunity.

communicate, and lost seven of their planes to American fighter patrols and antiaircraft batteries.

The heavy rains pouring down on Leyte Island have made fighting most difficult, MacArthur declared, in announcing that the American road block on the Ormoc road is still holding firm in the Tenth Corps sector.

Tropical Typhoon

"Another tropical typhoon is lashing Leyte," the general's communiqué said. "Bridges are washing out, streams are torrents and roads have become waterways. All traffic, air, ground and sea, is fraught with great difficulties and hazard, and battle conditions are becoming static."

It was the second storm to lash the embattled island since infantrymen from the 24th, 96th, 7th and 32nd divisions, as well as dismounted cavalrymen of the First Division, began their campaign to run the Japs off the island.

Mopping Up Metz

Meanwhile, mopping up operations are being completed in Metz.

Resistance within the city is confined to two Moselle Islands, Sauley and Chambreres, opposite the cathedral, and from five groups of outlying forts. An ultimatum sent to the enemy commander of the islands' garrison was ignored and the attacks upon those bastions resumed.

Well-informed observers said that 600 enemy troops are holding Fort Driant and are short of rations and small arms ammunition. These sources estimated that 3,100 prisoners were taken in Metz yesterday, including many members of the newly-conscripted Volksturm.

WHY THE DIFFERENCE?

Our former City Assessor seems to have changed his ideas in regard to what New Castle properties are worth, since he has changed his position.

When we bought our property, he decided that it should be assessed at about twice what it was sold for at private sale. (The State Law governing this is, property shall be assessed for not more than what it will bring at a private sale.)

But, we see now, he is finding fault with Council, because they want to raise his former assessment, so that it will be at least one-half or nearly one-half what these properties are sold for at private sale.

Our War With Japan

The Sixth War Loan marks a new turn in the war both on the fighting and the home fronts. It points our tremendous war effort definitely in the direction of the Pacific. During the first five war loans Americans were primarily thinking in terms of beating Hitler.

Now our government asks us for a loan of 14 billion more dollars of which five billion dollars must come from individuals. Why? Haven't we nearly finished off our so-called Number 1 Enemy? Can Japan hold up our powerful war machine very long? Your son, brother and friend in his Pacific foxhole wouldn't raise such questions because they are up against realities, not day dreams. They kill or are killed. They pray every waking moment for a sky-darkening cover of friendly planes. They thank American for giving them the finest medical care in the world when their rendezvous with destiny in a Pacific jungle is at hand. They know the war with the Japs is just beginning.

Here are some other Pacific realities so that you will understand why there must be a Sixth War Loan and why it is absolutely necessary that it be a success:

The Allied Military Command has estimated that it will take years, not months, to lick Japan.

Japan's present army numbers about 4,000,000 with 2,000,000 more men available and fit for military service who haven't been called up to date. Another 1,500,000, between the ages of 17 and 20, are not yet subject to the draft.

The Jap air force is growing.

In addition to millions of native workers, Japan has a potential slave force of 400,000,000 conquered people. Fifty per cent of Japan's labor force is made up of women. Another 25 per cent boys and girls under 20, the balance men. The Jap workday is 12 to 16 hours with two days off a month. The Jap cannot leave his job, change it, or strike. The highest daily wage equals about three American dollars—30 per cent to 75 per cent of which goes to taxes and compulsory savings.

The Jap, as our men in the Pacific know, will fight to the death. As far as the Jap is concerned, the outer empire—and the men who defend it—are the expendables. The Jap will fight the battle from inside the inner empire.

The Jap believes that we shall weary of war too easily and too early.

In the invasion of France, supply ships had an overnight run to make. In the coming Battle of Japan, ships in the Pacific will have long-reached round trips that often take five months to make.

These realities are worth thinking about before you keep your home front rendezvous with a Victory Volunteer. Perhaps you will feel that the national personal Sixth War Loan objective—purchase of at least one extra $100 War Bond—is entirely too small for you. The better we face the realities confronting our forces in the Pacific the quicker the whole bloody business will be over and the sooner we will welcome home our fighting men. That's an American reality to work for with all our dollars and our sweat.

Anything But Clear

The more people read about the Chiang-Stilwell affair, the more confused they become. It isn't that the various correspondent's stories are hard to reconcile. Indeed, they all are in reasonably close agreement on the history of the differences between the Chinese generalissimo and the former American commander in the China-Burma-India theater. Where they diverge is in interpreting the underlying causes of these differences.

One explanation is that Chiang is just an old reactionary, no better than a fascist, and that his refusal to work with the Chinese communists led to his break with Vinegar Joe. Another is that the main issue between the Chinese generalissimo and the American general was strategic rather than political—that Stilwell stuck to his belief that the way to beat the Japs was overland by the Burma road, while Chiang favored amphibious operations. This would seem to put Chiang in the same school of military thought with Lord Louis Mountbatten. Still another explanation is that Chiang and Stilwell fell out primarily over the all-important question of allotment of supplies.

Two questions—one of them a serious question—occur: Will this unfortunate bit of inter-Allied dissension prolong the war and, if so, how long? The second—and less serious—question is this: If an American general of Stilwell's rank had been recalled by request of Churchill or Stalin or De Gaulle, instead of by demand of Chiang, what would people say?

Panic In Germany

Reports of disturbances inside Germany are so persistent that they cannot be brushed aside as hopeful wishing. Of all the reports, the one that there is a financial panic raging appears to be the most cheering news for the Allies.

A financial panic will undermine the morale of a nation as quickly and effectively as a major defeat on the battlefield. Military defeats create desperation, but when the home structure crumbles people become like sheep. Hitler's death probably would not have as profound effect on Germany as a financial panic.

When the German people realize that they are losing the roofs over their heads and the wherewithal to buy bread, interest in fighting the war to the bitter end will fade as vapor before a summer sun. That condition may be developing within Germany now. The army as yet does not reflect it, for it is fighting fiercely and tenaciously.

But when the props at home go out from under the military machine at the front, army morale will wilt as soldiers conclude they have little left to fight for.

General Chiang Kai-shek says victory is in sight. Let it never be asserted that Chiang is not far-sighted.

Germans behind the Allied lines now say they hate the Nazis. For not succeeding in conquering the world, no doubt.

New Phase Seen In U. S. Political Life

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—In convention in Chicago this week, the CIO is expected to confirm the permanent existence of the Political Action Committee, which contributed more than any other single factor to the re-election of President Roosevelt to a fourth term.

It is perhaps not too much to say that this step marks the beginning of a new phase of American political life. Conceivably, PAC can hold the balance of political power in the country's big industrial centers for years to come. That, in any event, seems to be the clear objective of the present leadership.

In a significant article in the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, Raymond P. Brandt, one of the most astute observers of national trends, suggests that PAC may eventually come to wield the same kind of political power that was exercised by the Anti-Saloon League under Wayne B. Wheeler in the 'twenties. For years the Anti-Saloon League held the balance of power in preponderantly rural areas, and thereby held Congress in line for prohibition long after the country had turned against the noble experiment.

Continue Setup

PAC will probably continue something like its present national setup, with regional offices in strategic centers. If the present leadership of PAC prevails, much of the personnel will also be kept together, although naturally, now that the presidential campaign is over, the staff is being reduced in size. They proved themselves, however, a winning team, and it will be surprising if C. B. Baldwin, the executive director, who held several high positions under the New Deal, does not continue in his present post.

PAC's long-term objective will be to remove all barriers to the vote, so that the number of voters in national and state elections is constantly increased toward a maximum of 90,000,000. If PAC has its way, within a relatively short span of years 75,000,000 voters will be going to the polls, which compares with a record of about 50,000,000 in the 1940 election.

The immediate objective will be the congressional elections of 1946. PAC will try not merely to hold the gains of November 7, but to increase the number of congressmen whose views on labor and international cooperation have the approval of PAC.

As the shrewd directors of PAC are well aware, the average citizen thinks about his political representatives in Washington briefly once every four years, or maybe every two years. He votes for a name or a personality.

Swing Is Other Way

When Roosevelt is on the ticket, he sweeps a number of Democrats into Congress with him. Without his presence at the head of the ticket, the swing is the other way. This makes for periodic warfare between the two branches, executive and legislative, with first one on top and then the other.

A powerful lobby such as PAC, constantly watching the voting record of each congressman, would tend to correct these violent swings. A great deal depends, of course, on the discretion with which PAC does its job in the future. The Anti-Saloon League under Wheeler became arrogant with power, and when the American people rose up, they annihilated it. For nearly 20 years, however, Wheeler's was the most powerful single voice in Washington.

An even more interesting question concerns the relationship between the CIO's political instrumentality and the Democratic party. There are many indications that a southern revolt against labor and New Dealism is held in abeyance only by the war.

What would happen if the reactionary wing of the party should gain control of the party machinery and nominate an ultra-conservative? If the Republicans countered such a move by nominating someone of liberal tendencies—say, Stassen, of Minnesota—then quite conceivably the weight of PAC would be on the GOP side.

That seems to be the present intention—not a third party, but the balance of power.

LINES FOR THE OPEN SEASON
I've never learned the way to pluck
The pretty feathers from a duck,
Nor am I one who can abide
The feeling of a duck's inside.
So, friendly nimrod, keep your game,
Or if you give it, clean the same.

"He always lived a sheltered life
And left the kitchen to the wife.
I have no wish for partridge meat
That comes with feathers, bill and feet.
Brouse hunter, here's my solemn word:
I can't dress any sort of bird!

Now, with the season drawing on,
A few brief lines on venison
Do not like it; have no wish
For deer meat on my dinner dish.
To mark me down as "out of luck,"
Friend hunter, when you pass the buck.

EQUALITY AMONG YOUR CHILDREN

"We have two small daughters, three years apart. The younger one is a naturally vivacious, attractive youngster; the older is reticent and somewhat shy. My wife's natural impulse is to make a fuss over the younger and forget her sister. I try to make up to the 'neglected' child but don't you think a mother's love is definitely essential?"—Daddy.

Answer: I not only think so. I know so! If your wife has any interest in the future of her shy and reticent child, she will give her the love and attention which every child deserves and longs for. Lack of these may have a bad psychological effect producing a bitterness and enviousness from which she may never recover throughout her life. Whatever you give to one child, give an equal share to the other. No distinction should be shown in either material things or parental love. Candidly, the shy, reticent child should receive the lion's share—if either should. She should be so treated to prevent the development of an inferiority complex. Children who lack parental love develop dangerous phobias—Stalin and Hitler—both of whom are alleged to have had drunken fathers who treated them cruelly when they condescended to notice them at all.

Question: A few days ago, my husband was invited to a party, at which there were both men and women. I received no invitation. Is this not unusual? I have never met the hostess. My husband knows both her and her husband through business. Just what is my position and should my husband attend?

Answer: It is very unusual. It occurred either through gross ignorance. An invitation to anything other than a stag party should never be sent to a married man unless his wife is included. The only other exception is, of course, a business conference where only those (both men and women) directly concerned need be invited. Your husband should show his disapproval by declining.

Rejoice evermore. Pray without ceasing. In every thing give thanks; for this is the will of God in Christ Jesus concerning you. I Thessalonians 5:16, 17, 18.

The World and the Mud Puddles

HERE'S THAT MAN AGAIN

If his column may seem to be a bit groggy or even giddy, it is because of a horrible nightmare which overtook me the night of November seventh, when the election returns started coming in, and which was followed by an overdose of crow.

In the Saturday Evening Post recently there was a story about a famous bird dog. It was a high bred dog, with the blood of dogdom royalty coursing his veins. He was a beautiful dog, keen, alert, and he could run like a streak of lightning. On the hunting field, his appearance put all other dogs to shame. When he pointed he was a picture. He had one fault. He ran faster than his nose. He split the wind so fast he lost the scent. He couldn't smell.

Good sportsmanship calls for a high degree of spiritual fortitude with almost half the people of this country again poised in the race for the Presidency by Franklin Delano Roosevelt, the master mind of a new social and economic philosophy.

Usually, with me, once an election is over and the votes are in and counted, I wipe off the slate of the campaign, congratulate the winners, hope for the best, and wait for another day.

This time, about all there is to do is to hope for the best. The American people have spoken after what has been one of the bitterest and most vigorously prosecuted elections in the history of the country. But aside from the "ins" taking advantage of their inside position it has been a fair election, the people freely and secretly expressing their preference, and under our rules the majority prevails.

As Republicans opposing the New Deal, we presented an able and trustworthy list of candidates who held that under the New Deal we are drifting from the doctrine of sound business principles, free enterprise, competition and self-determination, and are heading for a socialistic system of planned economy which will deprive the individual of much of his freedom to determine and choose his own way of life.

This issue was so uppermost in the campaign that candidates from top to bottom, frequently resorted to plain words in presenting their side of the case. Frankly, the Republicans threw everything at the opposition including the proverbial kitchen sink and in the exchange of courtesies, both sides often resorted to the retort discursive.

Ordinarily, it might be considered ill-mannered, unrefined, low, mean and unbecoming in a man of letters to be so grumpy and so grumpy to carry on when the game is over and the score is counted, but if the New Deal policies were dangerous to the country's welfare last week, last year and the years preceding, they are equally dangerous today, and if I may be permitted to say so, the victory November seventh didn't make them right.

People are happy and contented only when they are prosperous and doing well. They also want to be free and independent. The least of these things, if you have a good word for a "poor loser" and usually they are right, but in this instance it isn't merely the re-election again of President Roosevelt, but it is where he is leading the American people, what he is doing to their business and property and to the every day course of our lives.

For the reason I am just as much concerned about the future, and just as much opposed to his principles as the days and weeks before his re-election, sour grapes or not.

Almost without exception, so-called Big Business was opposed to him, and whether we love Big Business or not, it is Big Business that has made this country what it is. And it will be Big Business, and nothing else, that will eventually restore peace and prosperity not only in this country, but throughout the world. It is business or economic conditions that makes war, and it is good business and nothing else, that preserves the peace.

But what is going to happen to Big Business when this war with its tremendous demands comes to an end, nobody knows. What attitude President Roosevelt will take toward Big Business is only a guess. And what attitude Big Business will take toward the New Deal is another guess.

We know that Mr. Roosevelt and his administration have been decidedly unfriendly in the past to Big Business, and we know also that Big Business is suspicious if not actually afraid of Mr. Roosevelt.

Unless Mr. Roosevelt, President, makes a complete right about facing, his attitude toward Business of all kinds, big and little, any prospect of an early favorable adjustment of economic conditions in this country is mighty slim.

Big Business realizes, after a record not altogether good, that unless it is able to reform its tactics and assume the responsibility for the absorbing unemployment, then the Government will, and if the Government does, that will be the end of private business, Eric Johnston, the president of the United States Chamber of Commerce, has been preaching that for two years, and Big Business is ready if the Government will relieve the pressure of so much regulation.

The all-important question was not answered in the election. Dewey's victory would have made it a certainty.

Meanwhile, we will commit ourselves ungrudgingly and uncompromisingly to the winning of the war in the shortest possible time after that, the fireworks.

Personal Campaign Gift Limit Criticized
Believe More Money Was Available For Use
Robot Bombing Of America Seen As Possible

By HELEN ESSARY
(Central Press Columnist)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—There's a feeling in Capitol Hill that perhaps Congress clamped too tight a ceiling on campaign expenditures and that the three million dollar limitation on a national committee and the $5,000 personal contribution limit are too low.

Opinion of some observers who are getting into the question is that in this campaign there were more contributions available than could be used by regular party channels under the law.

So, as Robert T. Murphy, Senate campaign expenditures committee counsel, points out, there has been "a mushroom growth of the so-called independent committees." The individual could give only $5,000 to any one committee—but he could contribute the same amount to a number of committees.

Several committee members already have announced they favor clarification of the definition of "contribution"—with one, Senator Homer Ferguson (R.) of Michigan, asserting that it already is "clear to anyone who wants to enforce it."

Leather Still Poor

Although civilians will continue to get sufficient shoes, chances are they will be of low quality from now until spring, informed War Production Board sources point out. American fighting men, the WPB officials explain, still take the bulk of high grade leather, keeping the hide situation in the tough spot it has been since the war started.

Army and Navy department suggestion that robot bombing of the United States was "entirely possible" lent additional strength to the widespread belief that Germany would use other nefarious weapons, including gas, as a single, desperate last resort.

While the Army and Navy emphasized that robot bombs would have very little military effect on the United States, some observers have expressed belief that gas could create a humanitarian crisis in Europe and the British Isles before the attack was quelled.

Congressional sources say government agencies still are lagging in working out programs for the disposal of surplus war plants, although there has been some speeding up of plans in the last few weeks.

Nevertheless, decisions have not been reached as to what plants will definitely be regarded as surplus.

The surplus war property administration reportedly has made no effort to dispose of any plant facilities up to the present time.

Reconversion Moot Question

OPA Chief Chester Bowles has instigated a new policy of meeting monthly with the nation's top farm leaders and WPA Chief Marvin Jones. They will discuss all aspects of the food question, from production to distribution and rationing.

Look for a flare-up any day now on the old issue of reconversion versus war production. The controversy is back with us and probably will burst out into the open now that the election is over.

The National Association of Manufacturers called the turn by pointing out that WOB recently has begun soft-pedaling reconversion in favor of increasing emphasis on lagging war output.

It is another chapter in the old fight between Donald Nelson, former WPA chairman, and the military over how far reconversion should be permitted to go while the war is still on.

Prospects for a shake-up in the cabinet, when the fourth term begins, are believed to be greater than at the start of any previous Roosevelt term.

One reason is the fact that Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins and Agriculture Secretary Claude Wickard have not handled big war-time programs relating to manpower and food. Reports around Washington indicate that both Miss Perkins and Wickard may step out of the cabinet.

In addition, Secretary of State Cordell Hull has been ill for several weeks at the naval hospital at Bethesda, Md., and unconfirmed rumors are that he has offered his resignation.

Urge Congress Create Watchdog To Scan Funds

House Committee Would Scrutinize
Expenditures Of Funds By President And Agencies

By RAYMOND WILCOVE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—Congress was urged Monday to create a legislative watchdog to scrutinize the expenditure of funds by the president and executive agencies of the government.

The house committee to investigate executive agencies introduced legislation for the joint appropriations group of the house and senate to study "the manner in which the executive branch of the government spends the funds appropriated by congress."

A bill unanimously endorsed by all seven members of the committee, of which Rep. Smith (D) Va., is chairman, provided also for (1) a joint legislative staff of experts whose services would be available to all congressional committees, (2) a joint house-senate committee to study ways and means of "streamlining" congressional procedure and (3) a permanent investigatory committee of the house and senate to check executive agencies and procedures.

The Smith committee in a house report accompanying its bill, envisioned the permanent joint investigatory committee as largely taking over the functions of the multiple fact-finding groups already established by congress.

Would Probe Agencies
The joint investigatory committee would be empowered to probe the activities of executive agencies "for the purpose of ascertaining whether the laws of the nation are executed and administered" according to the intent of congress and to recommend remedial legislation if necessary.

A two-year study has disclosed, the report stated, that congress requires a large and competent staff of experts. Members at present have "nowhere to turn for unbiased assistance in obtaining an objective analysis of proposed measures, the report emphasized."

"Of course," it added, "the spokesmen for special-interest groups and pressure combines stand ready and eager to offer their advice and counsel; but needless to say, their views are invariably highly partisan."

The committee pointed out that "a large percentage of the most important legislation which is introduced in, and eventually passed by, the congress does not truly originate there." It comes from "the very executive officials who are intended to be the recipients of the powers which the legislation delegates."

"The framers and ratifiers of the constitution never contemplated that the legislative branch of the government which they set up would become a mere ratifying body of a supreme executive will," the committee asserted.

silent reading tests "but when asked to read aloud is ready to quit." Another mother writes of her son, 13: "In a language arts test (which was chiefly silent reading) he made 95 per cent, but if any one asks him to read aloud he stiffens out and a stubborn look comes on his face."

Boy's Difficulties

"I have had him take his eighth grade geography book and read silently to himself a small paragraph. Then after reading it once he will close the book and he will tell me all that's in it, including the names of countries, etc. Then I've asked him to read the same chapter aloud, and he couldn't get the first time and not all the harder ones. The longer I have him read out loud the more mistakes he makes."

In writing these parents, I assured them that since those lads can read well silently, they surely will learn by and by to read well aloud; that they might gain faster now at oral reading if they could be persuaded to read some materials very interesting to them but in far easier vocabulary than that of their regular text books.

Sixth War Loan Campaign Gets Auspicious Start

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 21.—(INS)—Sixth War Loan workers for the 19-county Fort Pitt area today declared an auspicious start had been made for the drive with several companies announcing that full quotas had been met by different departments.

The Dravo Corporation disclosed that three of its 50 major departments had subscribed percentage quotas of 143, 146 and 220.

The Russell, Burdall & War Nut and Bolt Company, Coraopolis, reported 98 per cent employee participation and 130 per cent of its quota.

Two mines and a repair shop of the Pittsburgh Coal Company already had turned in percentage quotas of 102, 265 and 190.

Hold Woman For Husband's Death

GREENSBURG, Pa., Nov. 21.—(INS)—Mrs. Helen Kistler, 23, today was being held for grand jury action upon recommendation of a coroner's jury in connection with the fatal shooting of her husband, Grant I. Kistler, 35, in Charleroi last Saturday.

A state patrolman said he found her pacing the floor of her home near the shooting scene, repeating "I shot my honey," and asserted she admitted killing Kistler during an automobile ride because she feared some one was going to "take me away and separate us."

Another officer said Mrs. Kistler realized she had shot her husband and asked "God to make him well," declaring she still loved him.

In the rear of the car, which left the road and ran into a field, a patrolman testified he found a .22 caliber gun with one empty chamber.

Dr. W. J. Potts, physician for the coroner, testified that in a post-mortem of the body he found death due to shock and hemorrhage from a bullet wound in the head.

Charge Man Set Fire To His Wife

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—(INS)—A slight, timid-looking house painter who police say confessed to pouring kerosene and carbolic acid over his wife, then setting her afire "because she aggravated him," was described today as incredulous at his own act as he was held on a slaying charge.

"I must have been crazy," Abraham Gold, 44, father of four children, was quoted as saying in his alleged confession describing how he set his wife ablaze in the bathroom of their home, then held the door shut until her screams died down.

According to police, Gold said he and his wife had argued for several weeks because he insisted that his second son, Manuel, 16, scrub the floors and that the other children—Gussie, 19, Saul, 18, and Fannie, 13—also assist their mother in household duties.

Gold was quoted as saying, "she was always aggravating me," but expressing bitter remorse at his wife's death.

Plenty Of Turkey For Service Men

CHICAGO, Nov. 21.—(INS)—If the service men and women in the Chicago area fail to get their fill of Thanksgiving turkey Thursday, it will be their own fault.

Mrs. Edward J. Kelly, wife of Chicago's mayor and canteen chairman, said today that some 21,000 pounds of turkey, 1,200 pounds of cranberry sauce, seven barrels of pickles and olives, 75 crates of celery, 1,000 pounds of potato chips and many other items will be served at Chicago's three service centers Thanksgiving day.

Not only those who are well aware of the hospitality of the service centers will be welcome, but service men and women enroute to new locations will be notified at railway stations that the holiday repast is waiting for them free and to "come and get it."

State's Program Being Drafted

HARRISBURG, Nov. 21.—(INS)—Pennsylvania's estimated half-billion dollar financial program for the 1945-47 biennium was being drafted today by Gov. Edward Martin and budget officers while cabinet officers mapped administration legislation for presentation to the General Assembly January 1.

Budget Secretary Edward M. Logan said the financial blueprint, designed to finance the commonwealth through what may be initial post-war years, was expected to be ready for the assembly's inspection a month after the session begins.

Budget officers would not discuss the possible elimination of one or more of the five so-called "emergency" taxes imposed by a democratic-controlled legislature in 1935 to raise funds for relief.

Election Board Hears Testimony

North Beaver Township Ballot Return Mixup Is Aired At Court House This Morning

Sitting as a board of elections,
County Commissioners Earl R.
Wimer, Karl T. Rohrer and Joseph
F. Travers today took testimony on the reason for 82 ballots not being included in the official returns from the first precinct of North Beaver township. The ballots were left out of the box when it was returned to the court house on the night of November 7, but were brought in on the morning of November 8.

Wesley Davis, chairman of the official recount board was called and said that the 82 ballots had been handed to him along with the sealed ballot box. He said the precinct had not yet been counted but that the board was awaiting instructions from the elections board.

Judge Of Elections
Miss Leora Hanna, judge of elections in the precinct, was called and said that the board had segregated straight party ballots and that after counting the 82 ballots in question which were straight Democratic ballots, they had been placed on a chair and in some manner a cushion had been placed over them.
Miss Hanna said the mistake was entirely unintentional and that the 32 ballots had been included in the official return sheet. Minority Inspector of Elections William Craig was called and corroborated Miss Hanna's testimony.

After hearing the testimony, the board of elections voted unanimously to count the 82 ballots in question along with the other ballots in the box.

One ballot was questioned for the reason that the voter had scratched out the name of Harry
E. Truman, Democratic nominee for vice president, and had written in the name of John W. Bricker, County Solicitor William McElwee said the ballot should be counted for all offices save that of vice president.

Samuel G. Neff, Democratic candidate for Congress, said he would reserve the right to protest the ballot should conditions warrant it.

OSCILLATION

EXCLUSIVE WITH PERSONALITY ROW

Oscillation is the name of a new technique for body shaping which works on the principal that fat accumulates only in those areas where circulation is poor.
... Oscillation works by delivering round circular throbbing strokes to your body—thousands per minute! And each of these strokes starts a ripple of movement in your body, which carries oxygen to starving cells. As the blood stream is set into motion, it carries away carbons, the carbons, that have been blocking your cells, making your muscles flabby, so that fat could accumulate.
The treatment is restful—YOU DON'T EVEN UNDRRESS!

W.L.B. Orders Strike To Be Ended
By 2:30 P. M. Or Officials To Appear At Washington
CLEVELAND, Nov. 21.—(INS)—The strike of 5,000 operators and maintenance men of the Ohio Bell Telephone Company took on a more serious aspect today as employees of the parent firm, the American Telephone & Telegraph Company voted not to go through picket lines established at 27 exchanges in Ohio. The vote was taken last night by Cleveland A. T. & T. employees and binds a total of 700 employees throughout the state in favor of observing picket lines. An immediate effect of the decision of long lines operators and maintenance men, according to H. J. Barber, vice president of the Bell company in charge of public relations, would necessitate the imposition of a strict priority in the handling of long distance calls. Company officials said, however, that long distance circuits carrying radio network programs and news dispatches would be kept in service. "If the union doesn't send in people to care for such service," Barber declared, "the company will supply engineers from the management's ranks." No Cleveland Agreement
No agreement was reached at a meeting called by Mayor Frank J. Lausche yesterday in an effort to settle the dispute growing out of a policy of the telephone company

More than 1,100 Mustang, Thunderbolt and Lightning fighters made up the escorting force. An American communique also announced that nine fighters reported missing from yesterday's attacks have returned to base, leaving nine others still unaccounted for. Other materials supplied included bombs of various sizes, chemicals for explosives, fuses for shells, grenades and parachutes for bombs and flares.

WHEN SAILOR KELLEY IS AGAIN YOUR Carpenter

★ Kelley was just the kind of a carpenter the Navy needed to build the road to victory. So, when the "Seabees" asked for construction specialists, Kelley knew he was the man for the job.

In far-off stretches of desolation, Kelley is one of the fellows who does the "impossible". His skill is helping to set new records for building air-strips and installations on newly won enemy territory.

The thing that impresses Sailor Kelley is the torrent of supplies that follows on the heels of invasion . . . supplies that he and all "Seabees" need to do their "impossible" tasks.

When Sailor Kelley returns to help build your new home or repair the back steps, he'll know the value of a dependable, speedy means of supply. He'll look to railroads, like the Baltimore & Ohio, for service that helps him do his peacetime work better . . . faster. And he'll find his desires for service squarely met by the 70,000 workers of the B&O.

Today, though hard at work at our job of war, we of the B&O are planning realistically for peace . . . planning finer freight and passenger services that will bring even greater enjoyment and prosperity to the communities along our 11,000 miles of track.

Warning Issued On Check Cashing

Special Precautions Needed On Allotment Checks Says Police Chief Hanna

Chief of Police Robert D. Hanna has been requested by the U. S. Secret Service to call the attention of local business men that many Allowance and Allotment checks are being issued monthly to wives and families of men in the armed forces, and that merchant must protect themselves against the check thief and forger, especially during the shopping days before the holiday season.

For Merchant

Chief Hanna pointed out now the observance of a few simple instructions by the business man could save him from financial loss.

You are the Loser if you cash a check bearing a forged endorsement. Know your endorser—Require identification.

Have checks endorsed in your presence.

Ask yourself this question—If this check is returned, because of a forged endorsement, can I locate the forger and recover my loss?

Have each check initialed by the employee who pays out money for it.

For Payees

The payee can help to protect their checks from falling into the hands of the check thief and forger. They should observe the following instructions:

Be sure your name is plainly visible on your mail box; the box is protected with a good lock.

At the time of delivery of your check, arrange, if possible, to be at home. Ask your mail carrier to notify you by some signal that he has your check.

If you cash your check at the same place each month you will have less difficulty in identifying yourself.

Do not endorse your check until you are in the presence of the person who cashes it for you.

If your check is of the Card Type, do not fold or mutilate it.

"The United States Secret Service," said Chief Hanna, "has investigative jurisdiction over forged Government checks, and has found that educating the public in the proper methods of handling these checks pays dividends in fewer forgeries. When Allowance and Allotment, Social Security and other Government checks are stolen and forged, those entitled to them may suffer hardships. It may be several months before a duplicate can be issued. The compliance with these instructions will thwart the activities of the 'meanest persons in the world'—thieves who steal checks from the mail boxes of the families of our fighting men and the old people who eagerly await their monthly check."

ORCHESTRA MAN KILLED
SHARON, Pa., Nov. 21.—(INS)—Funeral services will be held today in Sharon for Evan Malsom, 50, a member of the Cave and Dimmick dance band which was popular in the district about 16 years ago.

Malsom was killed by a taxi cab in Detroit, where he had been living for the past several years.

Amazing results shown in improving the Looks... boosting VITALITY!

1—Promote the flow of vital digestive juices in the stomach
2—Energize your body with RICH, RED BLOOD!

Improper diet, overwork, undue worries, colds, the flu or other illness often impairs the stomach's digestive functions and reduces the red-blood strength.

A person who is operating on only a 70 to 75% healthy blood volume or a stomach digestive capacity of only 50 to 60% normal is severely handicapped. At such times Nature needs extra help to restore its balance and function properly. Undigested food places a tax on the system...insufficient blood strength is a detriment to good health.

If you are subject to poor digestion or suspect deficient red-blood as the cause of your trouble, yet have no organic complication or focal infection, SSS Tonic may be just what you need.

SSS Tonic is especially designed (1) to promote the flow of VITAL DIGESTIVE JUICES in the stomach and (2) to build-up BLOOD STRENGTH when deficient.

These two important results enable you to enjoy the food you do eat . . . to make use of it as Nature intended . . . thus you may get new vitality . . . pep . . . become animated . . . more attractive!

Build Sturdy Health and Help America Win
Thousands and thousands of users have testified to the benefits SSS Tonic has brought to them and scientific research shows that it gets results—that's why so many say "SSS Tonic built sturdy health"—makes you feel like yourself again." At drug stores in 10 and 20 oz. sizes (S.S.S. Co.)

National Legion Head Calls On Us To Buy Bonds

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—(INS)—Edward N. Scheiberling, national commander of the American Legion, on the opening of the sixth war loan drive called upon the American people to buy war bonds "to the limit" and thus speed victory over the Germans and Japanese.

Scheiberling warned that "the men at the front cannot wait—they must have their weapons and equipment now, not tomorrow, not next week, not next year."

"No American ought to let them down on the home front where our privations and sacrifices are as nothing by comparison," Scheiberling continued. "All of us ought to resolve now to buy bonds to the very limit of our ability and to increase that ability if we can possibly do so."

A "CHAMP" NEVER QUILTS

At Pearl Harbor . . . the Navy didn't quit. At Tarawa . . . the Marines didn't quit. At Cassino . . . the Army didn't quit. In the invasion of Europe . . . the Coast Guard didn't quit.

Our armed champs didn't quit when the going was hardest at Anzio . . . they didn't get careless and slow up when the going got easier in that sweep through France.

The champ never quits trying. He doesn't quit when he is all but beaten; he doesn't quit when he has his opponent all but knocked out.

Even when we are down to only one enemy . . . the Jap . . . we are still facing the most ruthless enemy Americans ever fought. No American "champ" of the home front will quit buying War Bonds as long as our champs in the worldwide fighting services need . . . More B-29s to knock out Tokio (and they cost $600,000 each).

More P-47 Thunderbolts that out-climb and out-fight any enemy ship (and cost $50,000 apiece).

More tank-doctors to run interference for our boys (at a cost of $64,000 per tank).

More supply ships . . . more gas and oil than were used in the whole European invasion . . . more hospital ships . . . more evacuation hospitals . . . and more of all the 700,000 other things the armed forces use.

The American people are champs. The All-American champ will buy at least one extra $100 War Bond in the Sixth War Loan Drive . . . and continue his monthly purchases of war bonds.

ALUMINUM COMPANY OF AMERICA

YES, IT'S TRUE; GALS BUY PIPES

You've heard the stories, haven't you, about women rolling their own, now, or even smoking pipes since cigarettes can be found only by accident and seldom that way?

Well, they're verified, these stories are by practically every cigar store manager in downtown New Castle. It's not just the women in the wild west, or in the sophisticated city circles, but the gals right here at home.

One dealer tells how he had three dozen rollers in stock, and before the day was over they were all gone. Guess who bought most of them, he adds. Women. And, hardly speaking aloud, he tells of three pipes he sold to women the other day.

"I guess they can smoke them if they want to," he says.

"Hundreds of them; thousands of them!" exclaims another man, when asked how many women were rolling their own. "That woman who just went out bought a pipe and a roller both the other day."

Another dealer, however, shrugs his shoulders and says that he hasn't noticed so very many girls buying pipes. "Maybe they send their husbands in for them."

LONG on Expenses? SHORT of Cash?

TODAY'S increased cost-of-living and the new Pay-As-You-Go Tax leave a lot less from each pay check for everyday needs. And when expenses like dental and medical care, house repairs or insurance premiums come along, they put a dent in the budget. In such cases, have you ever considered the advantages of a Personal loan? It provides $10 to $250 or more repayable in sensible monthly amounts.

Loans at Personal are arranged simply and privately on your furniture, auto or signature. Co-signers are seldom required. To get a loan, come in, phone or write.

Some Shortages In War Supplies Are Now Feared

Army Service Forces Commander
Makes Report On Military
Goods Procurement

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—(INS)—Lieut. Gen. Brehon B. Somervell, Army Service Forces commander, said in his annual report Monday that military goods procurement had been generally successful, but warned of shortages of heavy artillery, ammunition trucks, tractors and tires.

Deliveries from U.S. industry for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1944, he said, totaled 23.5 billion dollars compared with 20 billions for 1943. ASF shipped 40 million tons of cargo overseas compared with 19 million tons in 1943, while cargo and troop ships in army service increased from 717 to 1,500.

With nearly five million troops now overseas, Somervell said, 70 per cent of all soldiers and 60 per cent of cargo supply cross the Atlantic, and 30 and 40 per cent respectively, were dispatched to Pacific theaters.

Somervell paid high tribute to the army research and development division for putting 18 different rocket items in standard equipment during the year.

Other important developments, he said, included installation of 75 mm. cannons in airplanes, a 20 mm. gun for aircraft armament, a tank destroyer weapon, flame throwers, and improved types of incendiary and oil bombs for aerial attack.

He described the wonder drug, penicillin, as the most important single achievement in army medicine. The new insecticide, DDT, he added, shows a promise of becoming an important weapon against malaria.

Neuropsychiatric disorders continued during the year to be a major medical problem, Somervell reported, but added that great strides were made and "a large percentage of combat mental casualties were returned to duty as result of early treatment."

Thinks Better Days Ahead For Taxpayer

STATE COLLEGE, Nov. 21.—Better days are ahead for the taxpayers of America in the opinion of C. J. Rowland of the Pennsylvania State College, who estimates that 25 per cent of the average person's income now goes for taxes.

The tax expert, who is a certified public accountant and professor of economics at the college, predicts a postwar reduction of taxes in all salary brackets and the elimination of many current federal luxury or "nuisance" taxes.

Although Americans can never hope for a return of the prewar tax rate, he said they may expect a reduction from the current year's standard, which experts predict will yield approximately 44 billion dollars in taxes.

A return to prewar standards will be impossible, he said, because government experts anticipate a postwar federal budget of 20 billion dollars, as compared to the four or five billions required to run the government in 1937.

Estimating 1944 expenditures at 100 billion dollars, Professor Rowland added that the total war debt probably will approach 300 billion dollars. A postwar budget of 20 billions will be needed to help pay off the national debt now being incurred, he pointed out.

President Hails Aid Of Science In Winning War

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—(INS)—President Roosevelt on Monday hailed the contribution by American science in development of secret weapons to the winning of the war. In a letter to Dr. Vannevar Bush, director of the office of scientific research and development, the president called upon him to make public as soon as it can be done so, consistent with military security, the contributions which have been made by this country to scientific knowledge.

Mr. Roosevelt said that the work of the office of scientific research and development can be carried on into the post-war period with great profit to the nation in "improvement of the national health, the creation of new enterprises bringing new jobs, and the betterment of the national standard of living."

The president directed Dr. Bush to conduct a study on what his group of scientists might be able to do in the future in the war of science against disease, in future government aid to research activities by public and private organizations, and institution of a program for discovering and developing scientific talent in American youth.

Washington Play Opens Bond Drive

Students Give Impressive Performance Before Large Audience Monday Afternoon

Explaining in colorful drama form the reasons for buying war bonds during the present drive, Washington Junior High students gave an impressive performance Monday afternoon before a large audience of schoolmates and parents in the school auditorium, when they presented "Figure It Out," a musical opener for the bond drive.

The cast of almost 100 handled their parts with talent and well-rehearsed skill, under the combined direction of the dramatics, music, and art departments. Sam, the boy with the obstructionist attitude toward the war effort became properly converted during the "hour-and-a-half-long pageant, as did his very belligerent father.

Mixing the musical and speaking parts throughout the performance, the leading members of the cast were as follows: schoolgirls Edie and Mary, played by Barbara Woods and Virginia Lightner; George, by Greg Thomas; Billie, by Jack Triplett; Sam Jr., the "obstructionist" boy, by Jack Robey, and Sam Sr., the irascible father, by Eugene Gribble.

Faculty members taking part were J. C. Ward, who played "The Voice of Public Opinion," and Thomas Smathers, who played Bill Connors. Outstanding in her "bug" costume, with red antennae, was Dorothy King who was the soloist with the "Squander-Bug" chorus. Soloist with the other chorus was Lois Baum.

The soldiers' quartet was made up of Jerry Skelley, Ed Davies, David Clark, and Fred Steinbink. Another singing part was that of Don Levine, who was the "Inflationary Dollar." "The Small Dollar" made an appearance in the person of Ned Vidal, while Ed Sewell handled still another singing part, that of the "Double Duty Dollar."

Adam Brown, the mortgage on whose house was held by Sam Sr., was played by Kenneth White. A gay dancing scene, which turned out to be a portrayal of inflation, was enacted by Jane McGown as Margy, Jim Lamoree, who was the one to finally win "Margy", Jack Thompson, Bill Ralph, John Baer, Richard Mooney, Don Black and David Lutz.

Representing a variety of community leaders, a large grouping of the cast was made up of: Bob Wallace as the banker; Paul Simmons as the wholesaler; Robert Shaw as the union man; Don Mills as the farmer; Charles Levy as the congressman; Bob Stafford as the administrator; Converse Branscome as the policeman; Bob Southern as the editor; Fenton Koch as the official, and David Kramer as the retailer.

EAST ST. LOUIS III, Nov. 21.—(INS)—The death of Mrs. Nellie Reel, 54, was ascribed today by Coroner C. Kane to a self-imposed fast for religious motives. SENATORS WARN ON INFLATION

Two Democratic Leaders Appeal For Halt To Disturbing Price Rises

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
(U.S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—Warnings that breaking of the "hold the line" wage and price policy now might bring on a spiral of inflation were sounded in the Senate today.

Two influential Democratic senators—George of Georgia and Johnson of Colorado—backed Economic Stabilization Director Fred M. Vinson's appeal for "special vigilance" to halt disturbing price rises.

The call for congressional support followed the drive of Sen. Claude Pepper (D. Fla.) to raise the floor on substandard wages, the demand for labor for a break in the "Little Steel" formula and appeals of other groups for higher OPA price ceilings.

"To increase the 'Little Steel' formula at this time is dangerous because prices might run away, although I think there may be instances where the 'Little Steel' formula is an unfair yardstick," said Sen. George.

"We are in a very critical period of this war and for the country as a whole because we face the constant danger of inflation at a higher degree than at any time during the war."

"Now is the time for clear, straight thinking by officials and the people. It would be a hazardous experiment to break down restraints."

George agreed that wage rules should be liberalized to meet hardships and sub-normal cases which would not involve a general breakdown of controls.

First steel cars to go into service for third-class passengers in Chile are now in operation.

Marine Bandman From Ellwood City Is Wounded In First Division Attack On Peleliu

Sgt. Hobart Miller, 411 Summit avenue, Ellwood City, was one of the members of the famed first marine division band, veterans of Guadalcanal and Cape Gloucester, wounded during the marine assault on Peleliu.

The instruments the band had used in a victory sereade on Guadalcanal and in the victory parade at muddy Cape Gloucester were left behind when the division embarked on the Peleliu blitz, and the members of the band carried sub-machine guns.

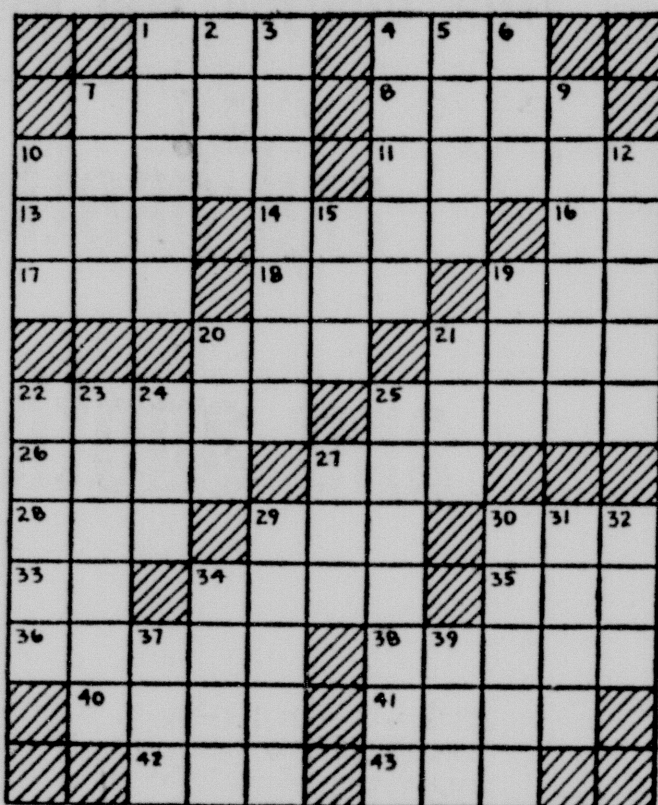

Sgt. Miller served on Cape Gloucester as well as on Peleliu.

Two Groups Leave To Start Training In Armed Forces

City And County Men Leave This Morning For Induction Center To Begin Their Training

Men called up for induction by City Board One and County Board two of the Selective Service system departed this morning for an induction center, where they will be assigned for training in the armed forces.

The number was about the same as has been called up in recent months, most of them being youths who have attained their 18th birthday.

They were presented with the usual gifts by the Lawrence County Service Men's Aid group of the USO and a brief farewell ceremony was conducted by Charles E. Allen of the Perry S. Gaston post, American Legion, addressing the men. The prayer was given by Rev. Thomas J. Jones, pastor of the First Congregational church.

In his latest speech, broadcast by Hummer, Der Fuehrer told the Germans: "I greet you from afar." The trouble was, it wasn't far enough.

TRUCKERS HEAR STATE OFFICIAL

Assistant State Highway Secretary
Ray Smock Speaks At Dinner Event Here

Highway construction on a scale never before achieved will be seen in the postwar period, Assistant State Highway Secretary Ray Smock told a group of truck operators and friends in The Castleton hotel Monday night. The meeting was the monthly dinner meeting of the Lawrence county chapter, PMTA.

Preceding his remarks concerning postwar highway building, Mr. Smock reviewed the history of the department since its inception in 1903. Year by year he traced its progress until today when Pennsylvania has over 30,000 miles of improved highway in its state system, more than any other state in the union and as many as the combined total of half a dozen eastern states.

Relocate Highways

Mr. Smock told the truck group that many highways would have to be relocated in order to avoid dangerous curves and grades but that no relocation would be made until the department was satisfied it was necessary in the interests of safety and efficiency.

A postwar program involving some 65 millions of dollar will be entered into by the state, he said, and in this program Lawrence county will get its share.

One other speaker addressed the dinner meeting, State PMTA President Paul W. Keeley. Mr. Keeley cited figures to show the importance of the trucking industry in this country and urged the truckers present to stand together in the postwar days to come.

J. Fred Clarke, president of the Lawrence county chapter, was the chairman of the evening and welcomed the guests at the opening of the program. A number of visitors from Mercer county, Butler county, Pittsburgh and Youngstown were present. A group of talented boys and girls from Youngstown provided the musical end of the entertainment.

Mrs. Carl Phillips, president, reported on the state conference at Philadelphia.

The council will not meet during December but next on January 15 when the Waino P. T. A. will have charge of the program.

Murray Outlines Plans To Aid In Preventing Wars

C.I.O. To Send Delegation To Labor Conference In London On January 4

CHICAGO, Nov. 21.—(INS)—Philip Murray, president of the Congress of Industrial Organizations, today outlined plans of the CIO to collaborate in the creation of an international labor authority to help in the prevention of future wars and the promotion of world prosperity.

Details of the program were considered by the seventh annual convention of the CIO in session in Chicago after Murray had declared it was necessary that labor establish for itself an international unified position if it is to have an effective voice in post-war policies.

He said that in order to achieve its aims, the CIO will send to London Jan. 4 under his leadership 11 top officials of the CIO to attend a world labor conference there.

Preliminary to his conference the British Trade Union Congress will hold a meeting Dec. 4 at which Brit-

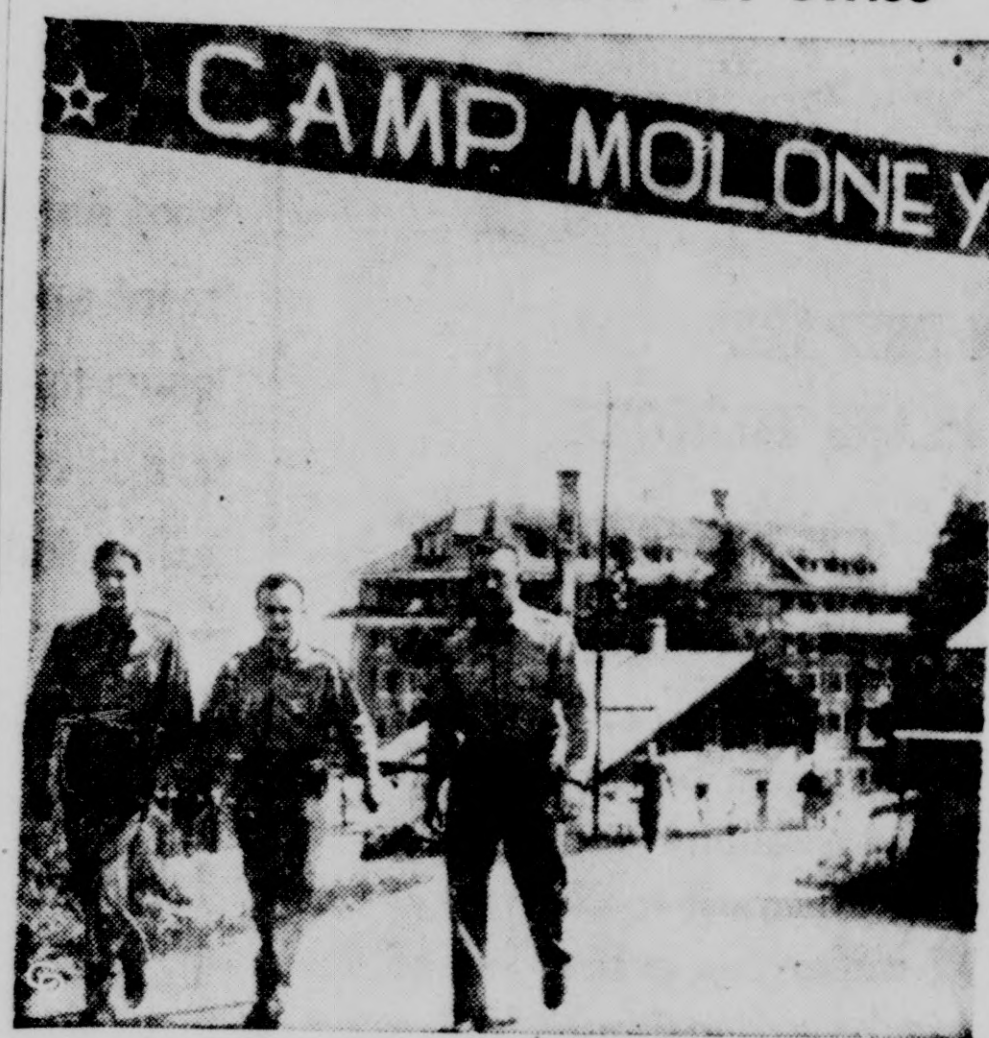

Asks Senate To Investigate Pearl Harbor Tragedy

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—(INS)—Sen. Homer Ferguson (R) Mich., today introduced a resolution in the senate for creation of a ten-man committee to make a sweeping investigation of the Pearl Harbor tragedy.

The resolution directs the proposed committee to make a report to the senate "as soon as practicable."

The special committee, to be appointed by the president of the senate "is authorized and directed to make a full and complete investigation of the facts relating to the attack made by the Japanese armed forces upon the territory of Hawaii on December 7, 1941."

FIND ROSES LAST LONGER WHEN CUT LATE DURING DAY

ITHACA.—(INS)—The time-honored rule "cut your roses in the morning when the dew is on them" has been disproved through scientific experiment in the Department of Floriculture at Cornell University.

Through research of Joseph E. Howland, assistant in the department, it is conclusively proved that roses cut in the afternoon last longer than those cut in the morning. As much as 10 hours of life is added. More than 1,000 roses were used in research over a year's period.

Howland found that roses kept nearly 8 hours longer when cut at 4:30 p. m. than when cut at 8 a. m. During the hot weather, the afternoon cutting increased the keeping time to nearly 10 hours longer.

The reason is that leaves make sugars when the sun shines. The later in the day the stems are cut, the longer they should keep because of the sugar content, which is highest around 4:30 p. m.

Howland discovered also that short-stemmed roses, with only a few leaves kept just as long as long-stemmed ones with many leaves—and there goes another time-honored rule into discard.

The history of roses supports the new evidence. Howland pointed out that as early as 1908, French investigators discovered that the keeping quality of cut flowers was improved by any chemical used in the water, unless it was used in combination with sugar. Even today florists sell "sugar powder" to prolong the life of roses, but up to now did not know why it worked.

Maquis Receive Their Names From Sheltering Bushes

WASHINGTON, D. C.—(INS)—

How did they get their name—the underground men of France, who are aiding the Allies to drive the hated Hun from their homeland?

Literally the maquis (pronounced makee) is a kind of thick or underbrush somewhat like chaparral in the southwestern United States. The French underground movement adopted the name from the old Corsican custom of taking to the maquis when local authorities vendetta threat, or enemy invaders pressed too close for safety.

Luxuriant In Corsica

Although the maquis is especially luxuriant in Corsica, it is also found in near-by Mediterranean regions. It includes a number of evergreen shrubs, dwarf trees, and aromatic plants, such as myrtle, rosemary, oleander, pink and white heath, honeysuckle, and lavender.

Corsican visitors say it is the maquis that makes this the "Scented Isle"; that its perfume is even carried out to sea. Napoleon once said he would know Corsica with his eyes shut, by its perfume.

The maquis grows generally near coasts and along the lower slopes of the mountains. Thus such bush protection for members of the French Maquis is usually figurative rather than literal. For the Maquis movement is widespread over France, taking advantage of various forests, swamps, and mountains that provide concealment for bases of operation.

Out In The Open Now

Maquis forces have been particularly strong in the Alps region of east-central and southeast France as well as in the south-central highlands and along the northern slopes of the Pyrenees. The Haute Savoie (Upper Savoy) District, on the Swiss and Italian frontier, became an early refuge for Frenchmen fleeing German conscription and removal to Reich factories. To this area, during the spring of 1944, the Germans were forced to send a substantial number of troops, who suffered heavy losses before overwhelming the French patriots.

Striking from their hidden bases, the Maquis (comprising men of all trades and professions, classes and politics) have brought increasing destruction to German troops and Nazi-used communication lines, war plants, power stations, bridges, and military installations. Today they are out in the open, fighting like seasoned troops.

In a literal and geographic way, says the National Geographic Society, the maquis vegetation of Corsica, France, and other Mediterranean-bordering countries has served to protect and retain the soil subjected to winter's heavy rainfall and the hot summer sun.

The northern United States will have a semi-tropical climate in a million years or so, is a prediction. This, of course, will greatly console the fellow still trying to buy enough coal.

First Workout Held Monday Afternoon, Five Lettermen Back, Good Prospects

SHARPSVILLE HI
HERE DECEMBER 5

New Castle high school basketball team got started on the 1944-45 season yesterday afternoon at Washington high floor with 50 young hopefuls reporting to Head Coach Phil Bridenbaugh.

Not much in the way of a workout was accomplished on the first day, the coaches merely trying to acquaint themselves with the material at hand, and ordered a little shooting practice.

Have Five Lettermen

Five lettermen reported to Bridenbaugh: Billy Andrews, Freddie Wimer, Eddie Jackson, Al Kozela and Fisher. These boys will, no doubt, form the nucleus of the New Castle quintet this year, with Ray Owo, Dick Whitaker and Bob Reed, all reserves from last season, having a chance to gain varsity berths this year.

Faculty Manager Ralph Gardner has not as yet completed his pre-season schedule, but has announced the opening game for the New Castle team, Sharpsville High, at Washington gym on the night of Tuesday, Dec. 5. There will be a preliminary game starting at seven o'clock but the opponents for the High Reserves have as yet not been named.

Ticket Prices Announced

Ticket Manager Robert Mills today announced the sale of tickets for students at $1.80 for the season for the basketball games. Single student tickets will be 25 cents each, adult general admission will be 50 cents, and reserved seats will be 60 cents.

So far pre-season games have been carded with the following teams: December 5, Sharpsville, here; December 12, Youngstown East High, here; December 15, New Castle at Clairton; December 19, New Castle at Butler; December 27, Hay-Brack High, here. Gardner has two open dates yet to fill, December 8 and 29. The Section 3 season will start January 2 with New Castle playing at Ambridge.

East Brook To Battle Alumni

East Brook high school basketball team will open the 1944-45 floor season at East Brook high court on Wednesday evening, Nov. 22, by playing the East Brook Alumni team. The preliminary game will start at seven o'clock.

The East Brook team is being coached by Bob Dinsmore this year, a former Slippery Rock State Teachers star athlete a few years back. The East Brook high team will have four lettermen from last year on hand: Jameson, Black, Morrow and Wellman, along with Fisher and Boyles, reserves last season.

Landis Will Eat Turkey In Bed

CHICAGO, Nov. 21.—(INS)—Somewhat against his will, baseball commissioner Kenesaw M. Landis probably will have his Thanksgiving dinner Thursday in St. Luke's hospital.

The commissioner, victim of a severe cold, was reported to be in a "satisfactory condition" but it was said he would require more time in the hospital to obtain a complete rest.

Observing his birthday yesterday, he protested mildly because his immediate release was not in sight after his 49 days under treatment and observation.

Mrs. Landis is expected to share the Thanksgiving dinner with him, having been sent to the same hospital a few days ago with a fractured wrist.

Towering Titans Live Up To Name

Westminster To Again Have Tall Floor Squad, Meet
Butler "Y" Thursday

THREE LETTERMEN
RETURN TO SCHOOL

(Special To The News)

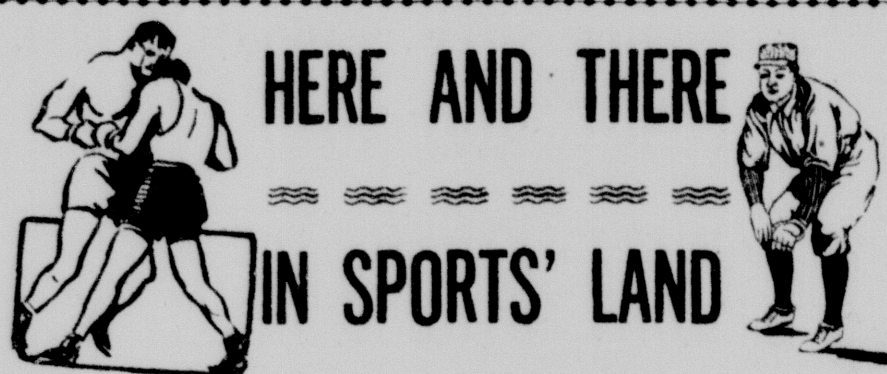

NEW WILMINGTON, Nov. 21.—The Westminster Titan quintet that meets Butler Y.M.C.A. in an exhibition game Thanksgiving Day will again uphold the college tradition of "Towering Titans". The 16-man squad will average better than six feet tall with a starting quintet that goes six-feet three.

Tallest member of the team is Pittsburgh sophomore Noble Jorgensen, six-foot eight center who received "All-American" honorable mention last season. Jorgensen is followed by Jack Watkins, Warren, O., Dean Nelson, Warren, Pa., and Don Bennett, East Liverpool, O., all of whom touch six-feet four, down to Al Markowitz, Pittsburgh freshman, who is the smallest man on the team at five seven.

Three Lettermen
This year's Titan squad will be largely dependent upon freshmen with only three returning lettermen—Don Bennett, last year's captain; Jorgensen, and Chris Wagner, Connellsville sophomore. Alfred Bair, Homestead, Pa., transfer from Long Island university will add much needed experience.

Among the more promising new men on the team are Jack Watkins, outstanding Ohio eager; Dean Nelson, captain of the Warren, Pa., championship team; Joe Cypher, from St. James high in Pittsburgh; and John Kashlak, all-state player and member of Duquesne's state champion quintet.

NEW DELL DIRECTOR
PHILADELPHIA.—(INS)—Dimitri Mitropoulos, internationally famed conductor, has been named director of Robin Hood Dell, in Philadelphia, for the auditorium's 16th season, it has been announced. Mitropoulos also is head of the Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra.

IT WAS BACK in the early 1900s in a little town on the Kansas prairies.

Frankie Brown, a professional boxer, and a tall, lean Kansan unknown in the ring had just finished a bout which the judges declared a draw. After the match, Brown caught up with his opponent who had wrapped up his boxing paraphernalia in a newspaper and had started home. They began a conversation and stopped off at a lunch room to talk over a sandwich and a glass of milk. Frankie Brown told the Kansan how much he admired his ring style, what a great boxer he'd make. The other smiled and declared, "I'm going to college and get an education so I'll be able to carve out a career to suit my own ideas." They talked to nearly midnight and in the end it was the views of Brown that were changed. He had decided to give up boxing as a career and enter college, even if it meant working his way through. He thanked the Kansan for the advice. "You're welcome, Frankie," the young Kansan replied. At that Brown grinned back. "Forget the Frankie Brown stuff. That's just my ring name. My real name's Rockne—Knut Rockne. And say, if I should want to write you, how should I spell that last name of yours?" "E-I-s-e-n-h-o-w-e-r, Dwight Eisenhower," the lanky Kansan replied. And thus it was that Rockne quit the ring to become one of the country's greatest football coaches on the advice of a man who has made a name for himself as one of the leading Allied generals in this war—"Sportstalk" Column, The Fielder, Stout Field, Indianapolis, Ind.

St. Vitus heads the Catholic Grade School Football League with five victories and no defeats. The leaders have run up 145 points against none for opponents. The circuit will expire after two games Saturday. St. Michael team will oppose St. Vitus at Union high field and St. Mary's will play St. Joseph at Taggart practice field. Information reaching this desk says preparations are under way for a Catholic Grade School Basketball League. The football circuit drew a lot of fans, reports state.

Some of those eleven which opposed the Army and Navy this season would have welcomed an Armistice. . . . Judging from what both service academies have accomplished the Army vs. Navy game this December 2 will be the game of games. . . . One of those likely to cast his optics on the classic is Frankie De Lillo, once a member of the Do-Diddle-Do duo who warbled during halves at Taggart stadium. . . . The other half that Singing Duo, Bill Chill, is a resident of Youngstown.

There was a time when terpsichoreans held each other at arm's length. Apparently that style has become passe judging from tell-tale lipstick found on white collars. . . . Johnny Greco defeated Bobby Ruffin in New York last week. Johnny is a former Canadian soldier. Teddy Atkinson, jockey, is headed south for the winter season. . . . He is Jockey No. 1 of 1944 having steered 265 winners. . . . Between 63,000 and 70,000, will see the service eleven's clash in Baltimore.

Speaking of Baltimore, it was there Al Herford found a young Negro boy opening oysters. Little did Al realize when he coaxed the colored lad away from the chukking job he had a champion in the rough. But he had. The boy was Joe Gans. . . . When he weighed in for Bat Nelson in their memorial 42-round clash at Goldfield, Nev., September 3, 1906, Billy Nolan, Nelson's mentor, forced Gans to weigh in, togs attired, at 133 ring-side. This took much out of Joe. Gans won on a foul but in two succeeding bouts Nelson won on a knockout—the last time at Colma, Calif., September 9, 1908.

Carter Is Winner By Technical K.O.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 21.—(INS)—Johnny Carter, Philadelphia midweight today held a six-round technical knockout over New York's hard-hitting Van Boon. McNutt, whose cut eye caused their windup to be halted at the Met last night before 1500 protesting fans.

Although the Boob appeared to have an edge in the fighting, Carter opened up a cut over McNutt's left eye and kept pounding away at it until in the sixth, Dr. L. C. Marter, of the state athletic commission, refused to allow the bout to continue.

Ray Morris, Wilmington featherweight, knocked out New York's Curly St. Angelo, in the fifth frame of the scheduled eight-round semi windup. Gene Burton, Scranton, kayoed Billy Nixon, Philadelphia, in the third of a six-rounder.

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—(INS)—Last night's 10-round bout between former NBA featherweight champion Phil Terranova of New York and Harry Jeffra, Baltimore ex-champ in the bantam and featherweight divisions, was chalked up today as a draw.

Willie Hoppe Is Leading Cochran

CHICAGO, Nov. 21.—(INS)—Willie Hoppe of New York, by virtue of victories in the first two Chicago blocks of his cross-country three cushion billiards match with Welker Cochran of San Francisco, enjoyed 98-point margin over his adversary today.

The champion won the 21st and 22nd blocks, 50 to 46 and 50 to 47, and now has an over-all margin of 1,100 to Cochran's 1,602. The two have played previously in Kansas City, St. Louis and Detroit.

McLean Is Through For This Season

CHICAGO, Nov. 21.—(INS)—The management of the Chicago Bears said today Ray "Scooter" McLean, star halfback, would be lost to the team for the remainder of the season. Games still to be played are the unbeaten Eagles in Philadelphia Sunday with the Cardinals the following Sunday in Pittsburgh.

McLean's right arm, injured earlier in the season, was hurt again when Alex Wojciechewicz ran into him in Sunday's game at Detroit.

Little Suggests Ivy Grid League

Would Set Up Strong Eastern Seaboard League For Football After War

By PAT ROBINSON

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—Lou Little, Columbia's level-headed, far-sighted football coach, offers today a post-war program for the general improvement and development of the game he teaches so well. Here it is:

(1) An Eastern or Ivy League comparable to the conferences elsewhere in the country.

(2) This conference to be composed, perhaps, as follows: Army, Navy, Columbia, Cornell, Dartmouth, Harvard, Pennsylvania, Princeton and Yale.

(3) General recognition of the speed-up rules which have lent color and excitement to the game when used this year.

(4) Further changes to improve the game and do away with part of the stagnated code of the NCAA.

Would Improve Game

"An Eastern League—call it Ivy if you will—would improve the game 100 per cent in the east," said Lou. "It must be admitted that eastern football this season would have been pretty flat without the Army and Navy. Tradition demands that those two teams must be included in any such league."

"The other teams probably could be built up to a point comparable with the pre-war Penn teams, always insisting of course that scholastic standards be maintained at their present high level."

Lou is decidedly high on the merits of some of the changes certain colleges have put in practice this season.

"For instance," said Lou, "Running with a fumbled ball has added life to certain games and met with the enthusiastic response to the fans. We ran for a touchdown with a Cornell fumble."

"Penn scored on us after a fumble, and the fans loved it. Forcing a kick-off in bounds was another ten-strike and passing anywhere behind the line added a lot of thrills and many completed passes where the rule was used."

Really Has Something

"Any substitution from the bench should be made in a few seconds—and a time-out charged, of course—so that the continuity of play be not interrupted."

"Under the present rule, a coach might want to make a substitution immediately after the opening kick-off. So what happens? Although there hasn't been a single scrimmage, the teams sand around and the fans fume until two minutes have elapsed. Silly, isn't it? I insist a sub could be rushed from the bench and play be continued at once."

Such stupid substitution time-outs take place perhaps a dozen times a game so that you have a half-hour's delay or more interspersed through the contest. It simply doesn't make sense."

Lou, we think you'll agree, has something there.

'DRUNK WITH POWER'

SOUTH BEND, Wash.—(INS)—A one-bird dive bombing attack blitzed a 6,900-volt power line in South Bend and plunged a section of the town into darkness without apparent ill effect to the unintentional raider. The blackout, accompanied by an electric arc display and a power pole fire, came when a playful seagull swooped into the wires. Power crews that dashed to the scene saw the shocked gull stagger to its feet and flap away, although with a bit of wobble in its course.

Sharpsburg Coach Directs Appeal To Students' Parents

Gives His Side Of Controversy In Letter, Matter Of Salary
Causes Blowup

SHARPSBURG, Pa., Nov. 21.—(INS)—Sharpsburg's high school controversy took on a new angle today as the school board and former Coach Albert J. Ferraro backed their cases by letters to students' parents.

The 225 students returned to their classes yesterday following a three-day strike in protest to the ousting of Ferraro as basketball coach after he had directed their teams to two championships.

In the school board's letter to parents explaining Ferraro's dismissal was included a ballot to be cast in determining whether he should be given back his position as coach. The ex-coach saw the letter, which stated that in the middle of last season he had refused to continue coaching the team unless he received an additional $25, which, the letter continued, was paid him.

He then wrote a letter of his own, declaring that this year he had asked for an increase in wages to coach both A and B teams, but was refused the pay boost because the school board "couldn't afford it." Later, he maintained, Robert Follette was hired to coach the B team and that their combined salaries amounted to the same figure which Ferraro had originally asked.

Church-Industrial First-Half Schedule

Dario Baptiste, physical director of the "Y" today announced the following first-half schedule for the New Castle church and Industrial basketball leagues. The season will open on Wednesday night with three games booked. All first games will start at 7:30 o'clock. The final game starts at 9 o'clock. There will be three games each league night except Christmas and New Years. There are six teams in each of the leagues, and the rosters have been pretty well thinned out by men going into the service.

SEE RULING NEAR ON WAGE CASES

War Labor Board Approaches Decision On Appeals; Some Increases Seen

By PHILLIPS J. PECK
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—The War Labor Board approached a decision today on the first of a dozen major wage cases with indications pointing toward a pay adjustment of five to ten cents an hour for approximately 700,000 CIO steelworkers.

The action of the American Federation of Labor in rejoining the WLB's deliberations was interpreted as meaning that a ruling was near. Such a verdict would be a welcome announcement for the annual CIO convention currently assembled in Chicago.

Although the administration apparently is determined to maintain the "Little Steel" formula on general wage increases and the WLB already has ruled out the steelworkers' demand for a straight seventeen-cent hourly rate boost, an adjustment amounting to ten cents could be made through other means.

It might be given through a number of so-called "fringe" issues involved in the steelworkers' case—night shift differentials, a better vacation schedule, severance pay and correction of alleged "inequalities" in the industry's existing wage structure.

The War Labor Board's decision in the case of the steelworkers union, which is headed by CIO President Philip Murray, likely will become the pattern for rulings in the cases involving automobile, electric, meat packing, aluminum, textile and glass workers. The demands are very similar.

It is believed that the WLB will reject the CIO's demand for a guaranteed annual wage in the steel industry.

Thanksgiving Play At Franklin School

Varied Program Given By Students
In Anticipation Of Holiday
This Week

As a foretaste of Thanksgiving celebration, Franklin Junior High students gave a Thanksgiving program this afternoon during their assembly period.

Opening with devotions, the whole assembly took part in the responsive readings, and in the singing of Thanksgiving hymns, accompanied by the school band. A solo, "Netherlands Hymn of Thanksgiving" by James Bowman, concluded the devotional section of the program.

Mixing humor with a very definite moral, the second part was a play, "Somehow Thanksgiving," about a modern family which, having lost sight of the true meaning of Thanksgiving, eventually finds that the best way to celebrate is to help others, even if it's the burglar who breaks into the house.

The cast was as follows: Mr. Corey, William Sullivan; Mrs. Corey, Lois Bechtol; Sarah and Winifred, their twin daughters, Shirley Nolte and Betty Frenzel; Barbara, the baby of the family, Janet McCollum; James Smith, the burglar, Wayne Sommerfeld; procurer, Paula Allison; sound effects, Leroy Julian; announcer, Myla Jean Lascola.

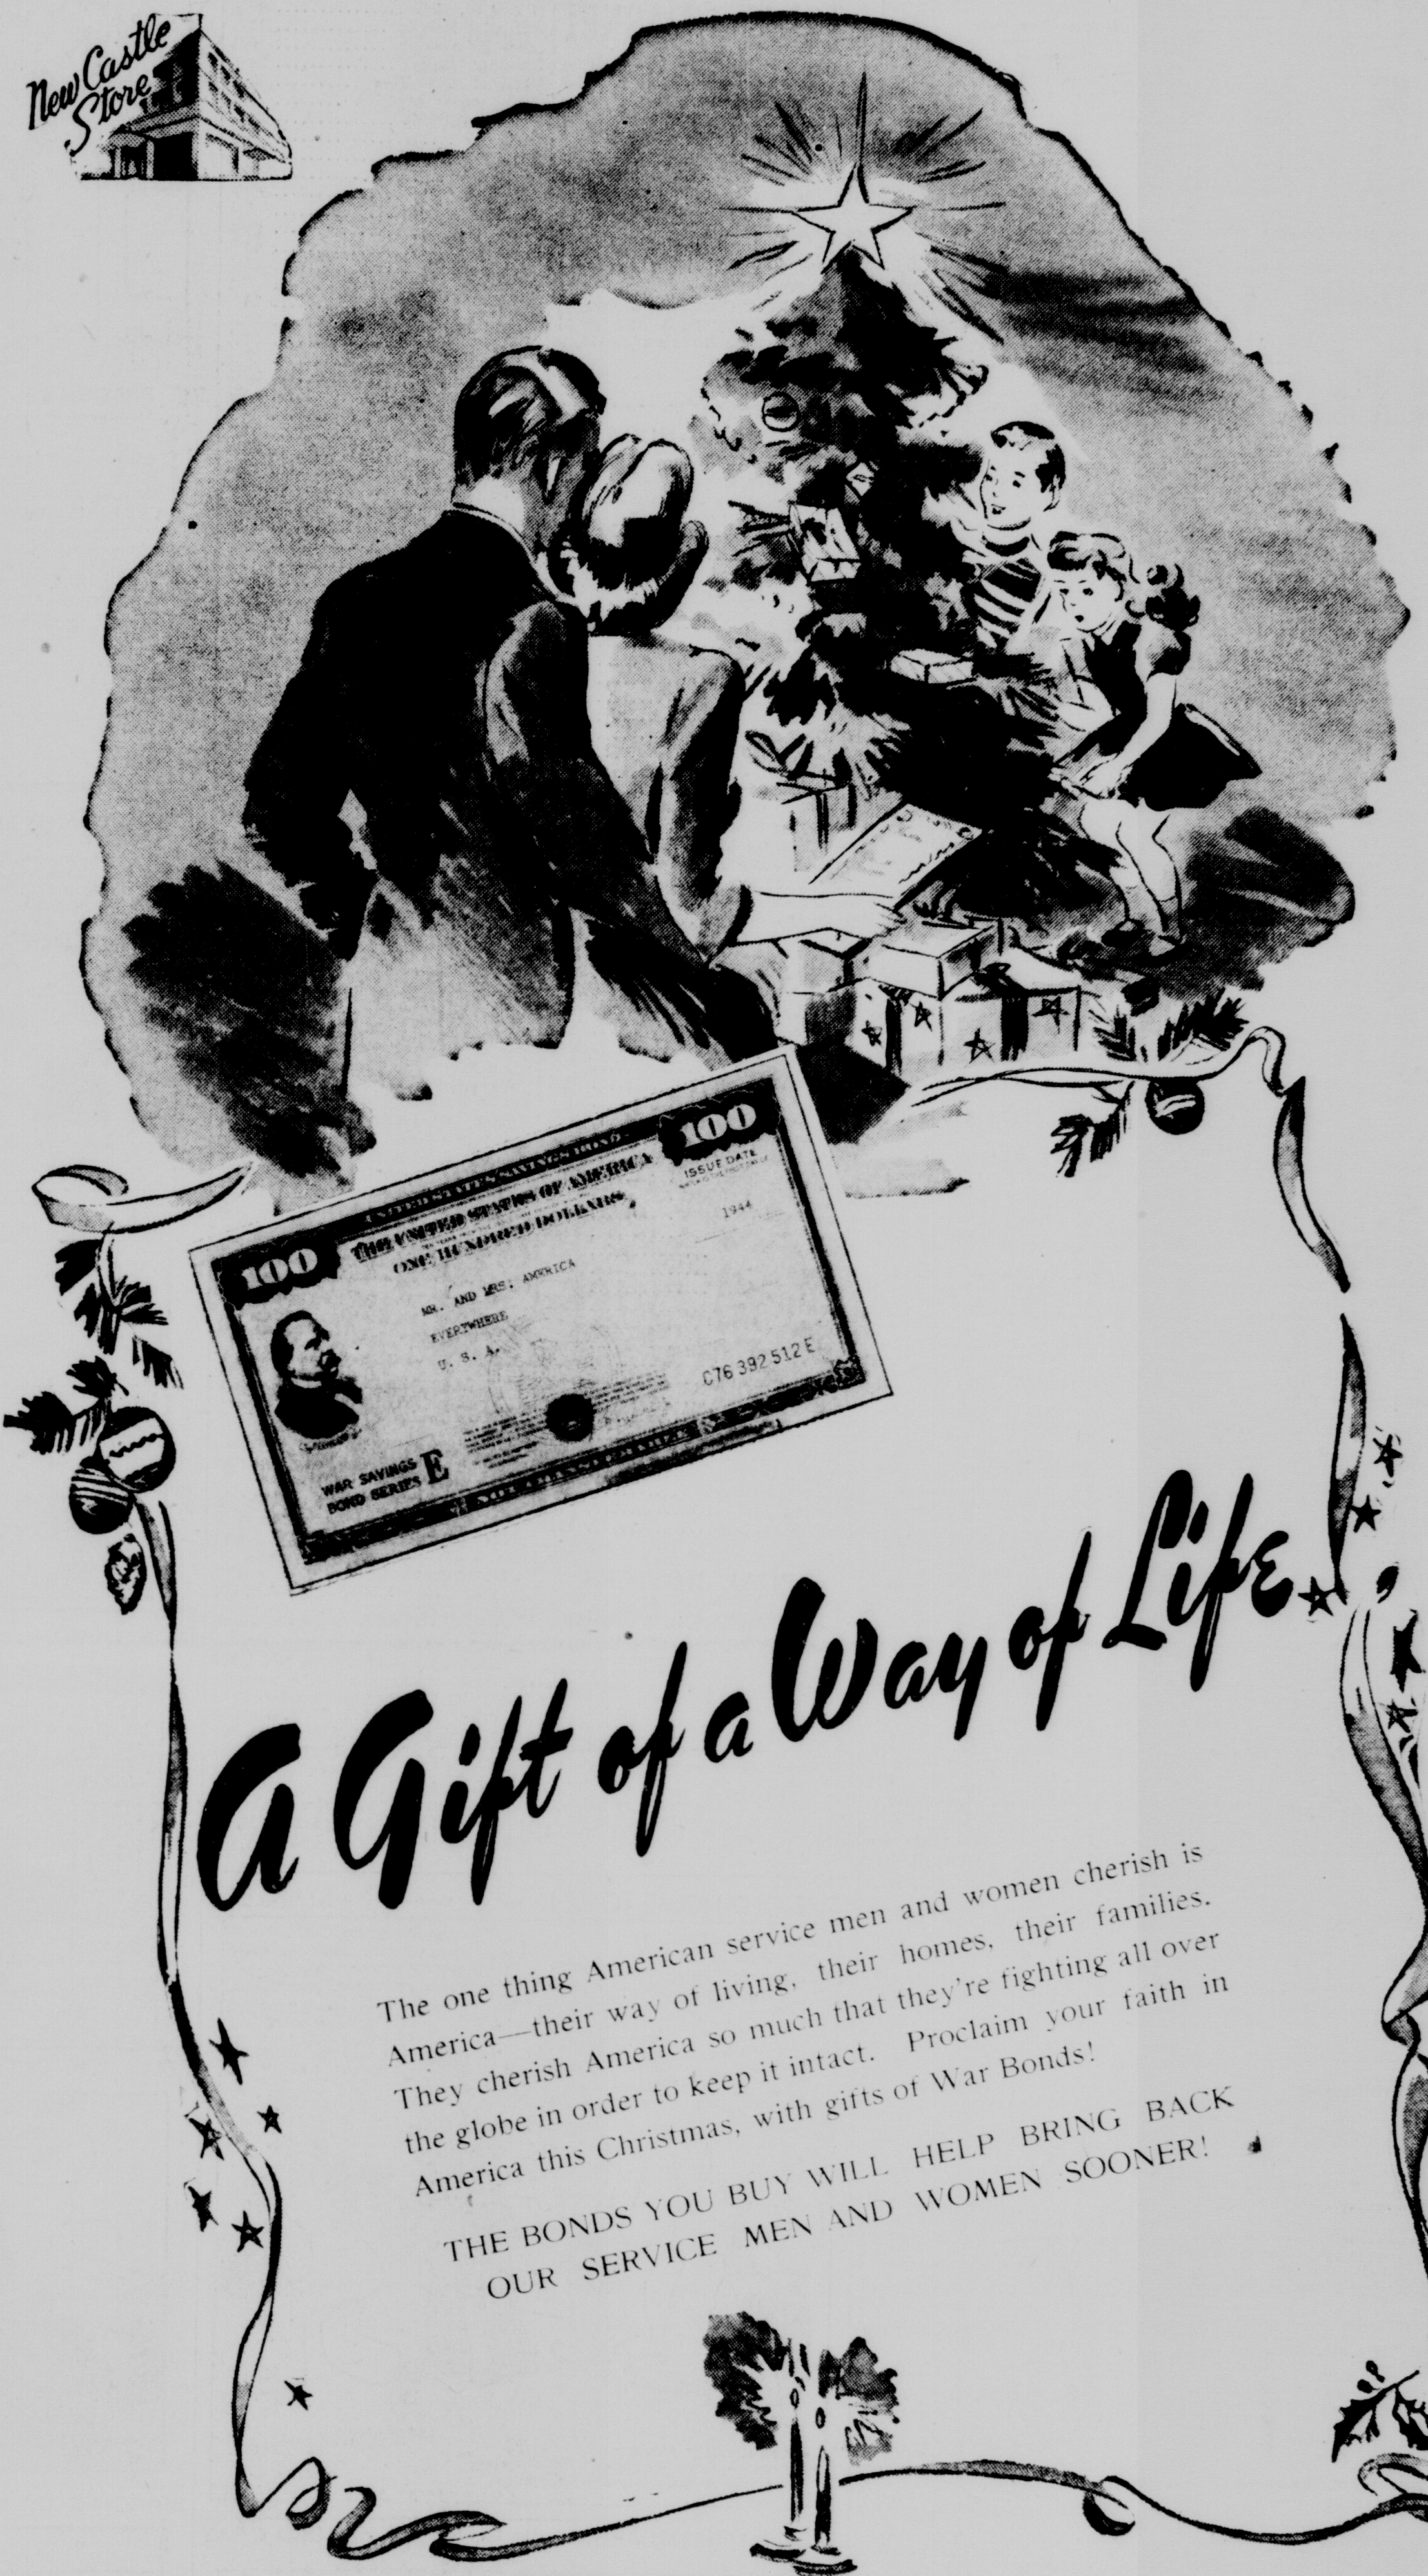

Finishing off the program, the whole assembly joined in the singing of "Over the River and Through the Woods," an old song of Thanksgiving Day. Devotions were directed by Miss Esther Gibbons, while the rest of the program was supervised by Miss Georgiana McNees.
